3. Distribution of the product

Distribution channels and conditions

The product is designed to be distributed through the following means and subject to the following conditions:

Retail Product Distribution Conduct (other than Marketing and Promotions)

1. A distributor must only engage in retail product distribution conduct (other than marketing and promotions) via:
 - In person communications by business bankers;
 - The issuer's digital platforms; and
 - Any other issuer approved communication channels (including telephone, email and social media).

This condition is appropriate as the issuer has distributed this product using these methods, with limited risk to customers.

2. A distributor must only engage in retail product distribution conduct (other than marketing and promotions) if it has identified the key difference between:
 - the product; and
 - Other products issued by the issuer that could be used for the purpose of providing security to a third party.

This condition is appropriate as it requires a distributor to confirm that the customer is in the target market.

3. A distributor must only engage in retail product distribution conduct (other than marketing and promotions) if the customer is a business and can offer security for the product.

This condition is appropriate as it requires a distributor to confirm that the customer is in the target market.

Marketing and Promotions

1. A distributor must only market and promote the product through:
 - Advertising on television, radio, the internet (including social media), billboards and physical banners, brochures and other marketing material available to businesses;
 - In person recommendations to access marketing material (including in branch communications);
 - Any other issuer approved communication channels (including telephone, email and social media).

This condition is appropriate as the target market is limited to businesses, which may include body corporates and sole traders.

4. Reporting by distributors of the product

This product is only distributed by Hume Bank.
